Superintendent's Report

To the Members of the School Board:

Enfield, N. H.

Gentlemen:

It is my pleasure to submit to you my annual report on the financial and educational condition of the School District. Included in this report are certain tables not hitherto published in exactly this form, but which I think will give information to the people.

The financial report is brought down to the minute, including not only the report of the preceeding school year but of the current year to date of February 15. This shows a current expenditure at the rate of somewhat less than $1400 over last year. The anticipated receipts for next year, from sources other than taxation, are substantially greater than those of the current year, all of which tends to lower school costs for the next few years.

The table below gives the enrollment in our schools at the beginning of this calendar year:

GRADES

School	I	II	III	IV	V	VI	VII	VIII	Total
Village	25	23	23	20	23	20	26	20	180
Center	1	9	0	2	10	4			26
East Hill	1	2	0	1	1	0	1	1	7
Montcalm	2	2	0	0	5	0	3	0	12
Totals	29	36	23	23	39	24	30	21	225
High			IX		X	XI	XII
			24		13	15	6		58

Since the above was made three children have left East Hill School. Next year in this school there will be only three children, so far as we can foresee, all in one family.

Jones Hill school has gone the way of many of our rural schools and is now closed. At the transportation cost of $10.00 per week, as one against a cost of operating the school of $850 per year, (made up of the items of Teacher's Salary $800.; fuel $25.00, Janitor $25.00.) the saving in expense is $490.00 per year, with no other expense for receiving these pupils into our Village school. In fact, if it were possible to place ALL our rural pupils in our central village school there would be no added cost of salaries, janitor, fuel, and the like, and a saving of from $2600 to 2700 from which would need to be deducted the cost of transportation. I do not think it geographically possible to convey Montcalm School to this village. The natural geography of that community is a part of Lebanon. The above remarks are in the nature of musings of a superintendent.

You will notice that there are only 134 pupils in the first six grades of our village schools. It seems to me that six teachers for this number of children are unnecessary. Certainly thirty or even thirty-five pupils do not form an excessive number for one teacher and that means a reduction of one or two teachers on our staff. The whole secret of reducing the number of our teachers lies in a different grouping of the pupils than we now have, coupled with a different system of teaching. This organization would save at least one teachers salary and at the same time the different system of teaching would result in better instruction. At least I believe it would. These are more musings of a superintendent. Then, too, I suppose, if such a change in grading were carried out we would have such overwhelming complaint from parents as to render the whole scheme ineffective. But I have been making studies and collecting records of our children for the last seven or eight years and I know there are many of our children who could do more school work and do it in less years than they are now doing. We have pupils of third grade ability trying to do fourth or fifth or sixth grade work and retarding the whole group they are in, taking more time and costing the district more money. These are in third and fourth and fifth grades, pupils who could do a grade or two higher work and do it well and faster if they were allowed to go ahead with advanced groups. No teacher can teach a grade made up of pupils varying in ability by two or three years of mental maturity and do it without great loss of time and district money. Perhaps our citizens would not relish plain talk applied to their own children and therein lies the hitch. We are entangled in an expensive grade system which is costing us money because public sentiment favors it. Many of our leading educators are coming to believe that the graded system as it now exists is becoming obsolete and that there is a much better way just ahead.

Further I believe that further reductions in total salary expense to the district should come, not through reductions in individual salaries, but through the employment of a less number of teachers. This could be accomplished by means of labor saving systems of teaching and the employment of labor saving educational machinery. This is in line with modern industry.

Below is given a table of the teachers at present employed, grade, salary, both this year and last, etc. All teachers are the same in our schools as last year.

JANITOR SERVICE

At the rate of $1.00 per week in rural schools except Montcalm.

Montcalm Albie Kidder—building fires—$1.00 per Sweeping—pupils—$0.50 per week.

High School, $25,00 per week.

Occasionally we hear people say how much less the cost of operating our schools ought to be It is well in considering such statements to know first what the cost of operating our schools really is in comparison with other towns and with the state average as a whole.

Consulting tables of schools costs , as prepared by the State Board of Education for the school year ending June 30, 1932 we find the following instructive figures:—it cost to educate each pupil in the public elementary schools of New Hampshire last year an average of $82.11,—the town having the highest cost expended $532.70 per pupil; the lowest, $48.74. Enfield expended in that year $66.42 per pupil. School districts in our own Supervisory union expended as follows, $81.08, $98.56, $102.38, and $121.73 respectively. This does not look like extravagant management of our schools by our local school board.

The item of expenditures for text books and scholars supplies often comes in for more criticism than the size of the amount would seem to warrant. But in this item out of 243 school districts in the state 181 expended more per pupil during the school year ending June 30, 1931(the latest figures we have available) than did Enfield, and 165 expended more per pupil for scholars' supplies. Figures are powerful speakers and these show the drift of school management in this town. How much less money ought we to operate our schools than these figures show? How much less education can we afford to offer our girls and boys than seems to be indicated by the above comparisons?

Perhaps it would not be out of place in concluding this report to express my own convictions regarding what should be the mutual expectations between school board and public, and young men and women when they enter into an agreement to become teachers in our schools. The school board and the public should reasonably expect on the part of the teacher a proper personal dignity and a self-respect which does not permit them at any time to be accused of frivolous and silly behavior. Children come to respect or disrespect their teachers more because of their bearing out of school hours than in them. To be sure pupils do not respect a discipline so easy as not to control them firmly and with dignity, but far less do they respect their teachers whose recreational relaxation allows any shadow of suspicion to rest upon them. Teachers are not employed to amuse themselves or their friends—they are employed for a job and seeing that that job is carried on at the highest quality is their business.

The public expects something more of its teachers than a certain amount of teaching done each day. It expects them to be of such personality and moral strength as to exert a constant influence for good over our young people. And in return such teachers have a right to expect proper compensation from their employees.

Parents and the public are becoming a bit cynical about the worth of public school teachers, and teachers are reacting to this attitude with a somewhat "why worry?" feeling. Particularly at this time of falling incomes people are asking more seriously how much real value teachers are giving to children. Teaching Reading, Writing and Arithmetic is not the whole equipment of life which children in schools should be getting; there are moral values involved of far more worth than mere instruction in any book skills and only teachers who are themselves of a high order of moral and social dignity can impart this sort of influence. The public's reluctance at this time to pay normal wages to teachers is partly the fault of teachers themselves,—they have not in all cases convinced the public they are worth what they are now paid. Those teachers who succeed in selling themselves to their districts; who succeed in convincing parents and citizens that they are of high value to the whole community because of their splendid influence over their children will find their salaries not begrudged them by a patient and critical public.

There is not a person now but is making a sacrifice to support our school as amply as they are supported, they are for the most part appreciative of the service which teachers render. In return teachers must evidence to the public a live interest in the community and its problems; they should interest themselves in the activities of their pupils outside of school; they should, in a word, make themselves a part of the community in which they teach and from which they receive their pay.

Respectfully Submitted

H. HOWARD PRATT.
